CERTIFICATE IN ADDICTIONS COUNSELING

pdx.edu/coun/addictions

Seven sequential graduate-level courses, or 190 hours, designed for behavioral health, mental health, addictions treatment, and other human services professionals at both the graduate credit level with the Graduate Certificate in Addictions Counseling, and the noncredit level Certificate of Completion in Addictions Counseling. Either certificate will help to better serve clients, as well as increase employment options: mental health professionals benefit from the additional training in addictions counseling to serve clients struggling with this issue.
